

How to Write A Compelling Residency Personal Statement: A Guide for the IMG

How to write a compelling residency personal statement is a detailed guide on how to market yourself and make a good impression without being physically present. Your personal statement (PS) must stand out from the other hundreds of PS that program directors go through. Your PS must address what Program Directors want to see in a residency application and also bring out your best qualities prompting them to extend you an interview invite to explore your application further. Questions and concerns addressed include:- - Which story (hook) do I put in a personal statement? - How do I put my failures in a positive light? - There is nothing interesting about me? - How do I know which programs that are IMG friendly? - How many programs should I apply to? - I don't know anybody in that program? The above and many other concerns are addressed in the book. Grab your copy today and begin the process of distinguishing yourself from the crowd of residency applicants.
