

Wonder: A Novel

Have a gay Caltech professor and his dying mother uncovered the secrets of the mind... and the universe? Tom Flahertys mother is suffering from a strange form of dementia that causes her to journey back in time; especially when shes housecleaning and finds personal items that trigger her memory. But Maude Flahertys travels--from the Scopes Monkey trial in 1925 to the 1936 Berlin Olympics to the Civil Rights March on Washington in 1963--might be the evidence Tom needs as a Caltech physicist to develop a unified theory of space, time, and place and reconnect with a society hes lost touch with since the loss of his partner a decade ago. As Tom attempts to determine just what is happening to his mother, the sense of wonder that disappeared with Kens murder returns and his renewed quest for the meaning of life leads him to the national spotlight. Housecleaning is both a gay love story and a family drama, questioning science and faith and how scientists see the universe as God.
